An Online Feminist Journal

CFP

MP: An Online Feminist Journal is seeking submissions for its fall issue. We seek scholarly articles, book reviews, and short essays that engage any aspect of feminism or feminist scholarship. Interdisciplinary and international submissions are highly encouraged. We recently have published essays about the body, the academy, religion, girls' studies, work, activism, and agency.

Maximum length for manuscripts is 30 double-spaced pages. Submissions may be in any accepted academic format such as MLA, APA, Legal Bluebook, or Chicago Style but must be consistent throughout and carefully edited. Submissions must not be published elsewhere already. Also include a current copy of your CV and a 50-word bio.

For best consideration for our fall issue, please submit your materials by midnight, July 31, 2012, to submissions@academinist.org. You are welcome to submit after that date, though those submissions will be considered for our Spring 2013 issue or later. For more information, check out our previous issues at <http://academinist.org/archives>.
